Apter, Godey Egan, Fisher Head Fiesta

Organization Starts Functioning as Ennes Names Associates

Directors Issue Call to Applicants for Staff Positions

The 1936 Fiesta organization began functioning last night when Director Howard Ennes announced appointment of the four associate directors.

They are David Apter, Terrie Egan, Ralph Fisher, and Thomas Godey. They, in addition to Ennes, will comprise the Board of Directors for 1936.

With the announcement of directors, came a call for applicants to fill the positions open on the staff. Among the positions open are file clerks, typists, radio, newspaper, and campus publicists, poster artists, accountants, electricians, and men interested in construction.

The director will interview applicants in the Fiesta office, M-10, on week days from 5:30 to 6 p. m., and on Saturdays from 1 to 6 p. m. Applications for Fiesta positions must be made at the Fiesta office, Building M. Applications must contain name, college, and position desired, as well as address and telephone number.

Work Already Begun

Work has already begun on the Fiesta queen contest, which is under Apter's supervision. A new plan by which the queen will be elected is being devised. In the past, four years, representatives of four different sororities have won the contest. Last year Helen Beake, of Alpha Delta Pi, reigned over the festivities. The winner in 1934 was Frances Goodrich, Kappa Delta, and in 1932 was Ruth Molyneux, Kappa Kappa Gamma.

The Fiesta was inaugurated in 1932 when Ted Reinhardt, "mayor of the University," directed the carnival. In 1933, plans for a carnival were abandoned, but the event was resumed in 1934. Ludwig Caminita Jr., director that year, changed the name from "Carnival" to "Fiesta," and instituted the Spanish motif. Last year, Sam Futrovsky was director.

Motif Enlarged

One of the first acts of Director Ennes this year was to announce that the Fiesta will not be limited to the Spanish motif alone. A plan for an international motif, giving every country some place in the event, has been arranged.

Apter is director of publicity. His unit will prepare releases for the

Masons Plan Blossom Sale

School of Government Gets Proceeds of Drive Feb. 18-19

Representatives of each sorority, of the Women's Independent organization, of the Colonial Campus Club, and any unaffiliated women who may wish to compete will participate in the annual cherry blossom sale, sponsored by the Masonic Club, which will be held Feb. 18-19. Proceeds of drives conducted throughout the United States by over 100 Masonic clubs will be given to the School of Government endowment fund.

All organizations, and individual contestants should send names of contestants to George Sangster, president of the local club, before Friday night.

Three cash prizes of $6, $3, and $1 will be awarded to the contestants who turn in the largest totals for sales. Imitation cherry blossoms will be furnished by the local Masonic Club and will be sold at a minimum price of 10 cents.

Mary Spelman, of Alpha Delta Pi, won first place in the cherry blossom drives in 1934 and 1935. Her total sales last year amounted to $2452. The University total was approximately $100.

Council Chooses Student Club For Frosh Mixer

The Freshman Mixer will be held Friday night from 9 till 12 in the Student Club in the basement of Building H, according to a statement issued by Harry Ames, social chairman of the Student Council. The orchestra for the occasion has not yet been selected.

The Freshman Mixer is a semi-annual affair held in the early part of each semester to give entering students a chance to become acquainted with each other as well as with the older students.

On previous occasions the gymnasium, Corcoran Hall, and Stockton Hall have been the scenes of this affair. This semester the Student Council selected the new Student Club, anticipating that it would be more satisfactory because of its greater space and the superior floor surface.

Alumni Give Law School 3 Pictures

Portraits of Former Justices to Be Presented Tomorrow

Alumni of the George Washington University Law Association will this week present the Law School with portraits of three former Supreme Court Justices who served on the School's faculty. Exercises will be held tomorrow evening at 6:10 in Stockton 10.

Dean William C. Van Vleet of the Law School will preside. Presentation is to be made by E. Hillman Jackson, president of the Law Association, and Pres. Cloyd H. Marvin will accept the gift on behalf of the University.

The justices whose portraits will be given are David Joseph Brewer, associate justice from 1889 to 1910 and professor at the University from 1890 to 1908; John Marshall Harlan, associate justice from 1877 to 1911, with the University from 1899 to 1911; and William Strong, associate justice from 1870 to 1880, professor of law from 1881 to 1888.

Among the honor guests will be former Gov. John G. Pollard, of Virginia, ex-president of the Law Association; members of the Board of Trustees; officers of the General Alumni Association; and officers of the Law Association. The exercises are open to all students, faculty, and alumni of the Law School.

Candidates for Degree To Be Examined Feb. 15

The examination in French and Spanish for A. M. candidates will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. in Q-10.

Candidates are requested to bring blue books and a French or Spanish book or periodical in the major subject, according to George N. Hennings of the department of romance languages.

Roberts Assumes Office On Student Life Committee

Brogren, Gottlieb Seek Third Seat On Govt. Council

Paul A. Brogren and Jerome Gottlieb, of the School of Government, are candidates for the third seat on the school's governing council. The election, which will be presided over by Austin Cunningham as chairman, will be held Thursday night at 7:30 in Corcoran 12.

The permanent delegate to the School of Government to the Student Council will be chosen from the three members of the Government council.

Bar Association Meets

There will be an important meeting of the Junior Bar Association in Stockton Hall 10 Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. Bob Marcus, secretary, announced last night.

Seeger Conducts Chapel

The first chapel service of this semester will be opened by Dr. Raymond J. Seeger, assistant professor of physics, who will speak on "The Reality of Spiritual Forces," Friday, 12:10 p. m., Corcoran 10.

Du Vigneaud Given Honors By Chemists

Biochemistry Head Presents Papers to Chemical Groups

Dr. Vincent Du Vigneaud, of the department of biochemistry, presented a paper at the organic symposium of the American Chemical Society at Rochester, and spoke at the joint meeting of the Toronto Biochemical Society and Toronto Biochemical Association recently. These are regarded as distinctive honors in the fields of biochemistry.

He reviewed the recent developments in the field of hormones at the biennial symposium of the American Chemical Society.

At the joint meeting of the Toronto groups, Dr. Du Vigneaud spoke on the research work that has been carried on here in regard to the chemistry and metabolism of homo-cystine and related sulphur compounds.

Du Vigneaud and his student, L. W. Butz, were the first to isolate the compound of homo-cystine, and his talk at Toronto covered the discovery of this compound, its chemical structure, and synthesis.

In Rochester he spoke on the work being done here on the chemistry of insulin and the pituitary gland, and the amazing new developments in the chemistry and physiological significance of sex hormones.

In the last few years, Dr. Du Vigneaud stated, a number of sex hormones have been isolated in crystalline form, and it is now possible to produce certain of them artificially in the laboratory from otherwise inert substances.

The next monthly meeting of the thesis group of the School of Education will be Feb. 19. New students should attend, according to Dean William C. Reudiger of the School of Education.

Professor to Be Liaison Officer Between Faculty and Students

Henry G. Roberts, assistant professor of public speaking, has been appointed to the Student Life Committee by Pres. Cloyd H. Marvin, to act as liaison officer between the faculty and student members of the committee.

Professor Roberts has been interested in student life since he has been at the University, and has lately been very active in several cases coming before the committee. He is one of the younger members of the faculty and will be able to draw upon his more recent experiences as a student to aid both the students and the committee in solving problems.

The committee is now composed of five members of the faculty and four students, exclusive of the new post which Professor Roberts will fill. According to President Marvin, this position was added because of the great increase in number of students in the University.

Professor Roberts' appointment must be confirmed by the Board of Trustees, which convenes Thursday.

TRUSTEES MEET THURSDAY
The regular meeting of the Board of Trustees will be held Thursday at 3:30 p. m. in H-205.

Internationals Open House At Reception

House-warming Culminates Several Years Planning By Officials

Foreign Students May Spend Spare Moments On Main Floor

By Len Boark

Culminating several years of planning by University officials interested in organizing a social center for foreign students and headquarters for the promotion of international studies, International House will be officially opened next Sunday afternoon.

Pres. and Mrs. Cloyd H. Marvin and Prof. Alan T. Deibert, foreign students' adviser, will receive informally at the house-warming reception to be held from 5 until 7 o'clock.

The main floor of Building E, 2107 G. St., is completely furnished, and foreign students and their friends will find it an ideal place to spend their moments resting, conversing, or studying.

The following persons are responsible for the furnishing of International House, which is expected to become the nucleus of a greater development of interest in the field of international relations: President Marvin; Mr. Harry C. Davis, secretary of the Board of Trustees of University; Mr. Theodore Noyes; Mrs. Charles W. Richardson; Mr. and Mrs. John Wirt; and Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Droop. Many foreign students have made contributions to the house.

Professor Deibert said, "International House is particularly for the use of the students who come to us from other countries, and we wish them to feel at home here and use the rooms on the first floor for studying or to meet their friends."

Professor Deibert's office is located on the second floor of the house.

International Students Society was organized in the fall of 1931, when Deibert became adviser to foreign students. The society, which is open to all foreign students, and has an American membership of 30 percent of the total, will have its headquarters in International House.

The office of Dr. A. Curtis Wilgus, director of the Center of Inter-American Studies, is also located on the second floor. The center fosters research and publications in the field of inter-American problems, and aims to bring about closer academic and cultural relations between students, scholars, and educational institutions in other American countries and the United States. This work is being carried on by a council of specialists associated with the University faculty, which offers lectures in the several fields of interest during the year.

Professor Deibert has announced that, beginning Feb. 21, tea will be served at International House from 4 to 5 o'clock every Friday afternoon for the foreign students. The house is open to the students from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., Monday through Friday, and Saturday morning until noon.

Book Store Shows Profit

Exchange Sponsored by Independent Group Open All Week

The All-University Book Exchange, sponsored by the Independent Men's Group, has been able to meet expenses and reports balanced books after only five days of existence in the basement of Stockton Hall.

John Palmer, bookkeeper of the exchange and secretary of the Independent Men's Group, reports that the money advanced by the Student Council to meet expenses was not used, due to the fact that the handling charges of 10 percent rapidly exceeded the cost of the advertising campaign conducted by the exchange.

The exchange will be open from 10 a. m. to 1:15 p. m. and from 4:45 p. m. to 7:15 p. m. each day this week through Friday, according to Frank Brisebois, in charge of the personnel of the exchange. Students having second-hand books for sale are asked to leave the books, with the exchange with price notation, if the books are sold, the student can collect his money a few days later. Unsold books will be returned to their respective owners.

Though there is charge of the exchange does not expect much business in books for this semester Thursday and Friday, they announced that their purpose in remaining open was to allow students to bring books which are used in first semester courses. These books, of course, will not be sold immediately, but will be held until next semester.

Bacteriology Seminar Will Be Held Feb. 17

The next special seminar to be held by the Department of Bacteriology will be presented by Dr. Hans Zinner, of Harvard Medical School, Feb. 17 at 4:30 p. m. Dr. Zinner is the author of the recent book, "Rats, Lice and History," which discusses the effect Typhus fever has had on world history.

Colonials Defeat Randolph-Macon 42-15, at the Gym

Capt. Bill Reinhardt's charges put themselves into tune for two hard games later in the week by rolling up the score against Randolph-Macon last night in the Tin Tabernacle, 42-15.

Starting slowly, the Colonials soon hit their stride and led, 15-2, before nine minutes of play was completed. G.W.'s defense worked almost to perfection as the Colonials held R-M. to four field goals, one of which was scored in the first half.

Tommy O'Brien and Mill Schonfeld scored 7 baskets between them in rapid succession in the second half. O'Brien added to his lead in the scoring race, making six field goals, while Schonfeld had 10 points with five field goals.

Union Defeats Two Pending Bills Sunday

Rep. Maverick Addresses Left Party Caucus Friday, 8 P.M.

BULLETIN

Hon. Maury Maverick, member of Congress from Texas, and leader of the liberal wing in the House of Representatives, will address the Left Party caucus Friday evening at 8 o'clock in Corcoran 10. There will be an open forum on the "Eminence of fascism in this country". The meeting will be open to all students of the University, William Goodykoonz, party leader, stated.

Two bills went down in defeat on the floor of the Union Sunday.

A resolution providing for entry into the League of Nations was killed when the necessary two-thirds majority was missed by two votes.

The executive committee had previously ruled that the question of United States entry into the league is in the nature of a treaty, and as such would require the two-thirds majority necessary in the Senate to give approval to a treaty made by the President.

The fate of the report of the judiciary committee relating to intra-state commerce was settled when a quorum call showed that there was not a sufficient number of members on the floor for a vote to be taken.

The bill, in addition to regulatory provisions regarding agriculture, industry, and commerce, advocated state ownership, operation, or control of banking, public utilities, and natural resources, as well as a tax on capital wealth.

O.D.K. Inducts At Banquet

Sen. Pope Becomes Honorary Member, Pres. Marvin Presides

The initiation banquet of Omicron Delta Kappa will be held tonight at the Lafayette Hotel at 8 p. m.

Eight of the nine men tapped will be present at the initiation which precedes the banquet. Sidney Koster, the only initiate who will not be present, is out of town. The men who will be formally initiated are Andrew Knappen, Bernard Margolis, Everett Strandell, Ross Pope, Bernard Holden, Alphonse "Tuffy" Leemans, and Gordon Potter. The initiation takes place at 7:30 p. m.

Senator James F. Pope of Idaho will be initiated as an honorary member. He will speak on "Why Activity?" Pres. Cloyd H. Marvin will act as toastmaster.

Beauty Entries Must Be Filed By Tomorrow

Photographing of Individuals at Edmonston's Closes Feb. 19

BULLETIN

For the benefit of those who cannot have their Cherry Tree pictures taken during the regular hours, Edmonston's Studio, 1333 F St., will remain open on the evenings of Friday, Feb. 14; Tuesday, Feb. 18, and Wednesday, Feb. 19, from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m.

Names of all eligible sororities' entries in the beauty contest sponsored by the 1936 Cherry Tree must be filed in the Publications Office, 2016 H St., by 5 p. m. tomorrow.

The seven sororities eligible to enter a candidate in the contest are: Pi Beta Phi, Chi Omega, Phi Mu, Alpha Delta Pi, Delta Zeta, Zeta Tau Alpha and Kappa Kappa Gamma.

The last day that seniors, members of fraternities, sororities, or other organizations using individual pictures, may be photographed for the 1936 yearbook at Edmonston's Studio, 1333 F St. will be Feb. 19.

Group pictures are being taken at times convenient for the groups. Those organizations which have contracted for group pictures, and have not yet arranged for the time to be photographed, should do so at once, according to Bob Hanson, photographic editor.

Organizations which have not returned the blanks containing information needed for printing in the annual, should turn them in immediately, to the Publications Office.

Clubs whose custom it has been to merely state a brief history of the club including its accomplishments and aims, should proceed as formerly, omitting on the blanks such things as the statement of the organization's colors and flower.

Complete returns have not yet been made by organizations which

Hatchet Staff Members Must Take Examination

All Hatchet staff members who have not yet taken the short written examination given last week will have a final opportunity to take the examination Sunday at The Hatchet office at 2 o'clock. All members of the staff are expected to take the test.

School of Engineering Adds Michigan Graduate to Faculty

Howard H. Koster, B.S. '32 and M.S. '33, of the University of Michigan, has been added to the faculty of the School of Engineering. He will fill the position as instructor in mechanical drawing left vacant by the resignation of Max Lett, who has accepted a position as assistant mechanical engineer with the Procurement Division of the Treasury Department.

Koster was an associate instructor in engineering at Grand Rapids Junior College in 1930. In 1935 he was an instructor in engineering at the Detroit Institute of Technology. He also served as student assistant at the University of Michigan while obtaining his M. S. degree.

At the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co., of Muskegon, Mich., and at the Universal Coller Corp. of Detroit, Koster was engaged in experimental work. He also served in an engineering position at the latter concern.

William Roesser, B.S. '25, and M.S. '29, is now an associate in electrical engineering. He is employed at the Bureau of Standards.

William Dix, B.S. '34, has been promoted from a position of assistant to associate in electrical engineering.

Exercises Begin at 8 P.M., Approximately 85 Get Degrees

Sizoo Will Pronounce the Benediction and Invocation

The Rev. Dr. S. Parks Cadman, minister of the Central Congregational Church of Brooklyn, N. Y., and also known for his radio sermons, will deliver the commencement address at the Mid-Winter Convocation, Saturday, Feb. 22.

Exercises are to begin at 8 p. m. with the invocation by The Rev. Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo, of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, who will also deliver the benediction.

Degrees will be conferred on approximately 85 students, according to Dr. Elmer J. Kayser, University Marshal, and about 79 students will receive junior certificates.

The place for the exercises has not been decided upon. For the last four years the Winter Convocation has been held in Constitution Hall.

Mid-winter services in the past have been notable for their attendance by numbers of dignitaries. In 1932, the year of the George Washington Bi-Centennial celebration, almost 150 honorary degrees were conferred. President Cloyd H. Marvin delivered the address. In 1933 Dr. Lester Canby, professor of English literature at Yale, spoke to the graduates.

Last year these exercises brought together seven of the outstanding men in the newspaper profession, who received honorary degrees.

G. W. Offers Six Debaters Scholarships

High School League Competes for Hundred Dollar Awards

Six $100 scholarships in the University will be awarded to members of the winning affirmative and negative teams of the High School Debate League, sponsored by the public speaking department next month.

Three members of the winning affirmative team and three members of the winning negative team will get the awards.

High schools of the District of Columbia, Baltimore, and neighboring schools in Virginia and Maryland will participate. Each school will be represented by an affirmative and a negative team.

The subject of the debates will be: "Resolved: That the several states should enact legislation providing for a system of complete medical service available to all citizens at public expense."

The schedule will be arranged so that schools of Washington and vicinity will debate other schools in this area in all preliminary debates, and schools in and near Baltimore will meet other schools in that area. Dr. Francis Litz, of Western High School, Baltimore, will be in charge of the debates in the Baltimore section.

Through elimination, the winning school in the Washington area and the winning school in the Baltimore area will be selected. These two schools will then engage in the final dual debate.

Invitations to about 60 high schools have been sent out, according to Prof. W. Hayes Yeager of the public speaking department. Entries are to be in the hands of Professor Yeager not later than Friday, and the first of the preliminary debates will be held about the first of March.

This is the second year of the University's High School Debate League. The league is supplementary to the High School Student Conference which held its third convention here in December.

In addition to the scholarships awarded to members of winning teams, the University will also provide engraved wall plaques for the winning school or schools.

Cue and Curtain Tryouts Continue Through Tonight

Tryouts for Cue and Curtain's second play of the year, "Ten Minute Alibi," will be continued through tonight, when final tryouts will be held in J-21 and J-22 at 8 o'clock.

The cast will be completed after tonight's tryouts and first rehearsals for the play will be held tomorrow at 8 a. m. in Building J.

Business and technical staffs will meet Thursday in the Cue and Curtain office, Building S, at 8 p. m. Positions on these staffs are still open, according to Cue and Curtain officers, who have asked that all students interested in places on either of the staffs attend the meetings Thursday.

"Ten Minute Alibi" is a three act mystery drama, written by Anthony Armstrong. It has seven main characters and one woman character. The plot concerns a murderer's manipulation of time to arrange a convenient and plausible alibi for his crime.

Exitus Acta Probat

New Basis Suggested for

Award of Debate Cups

THE cups awarded to the winning fraternity and sorority teams in the intramural debates sponsored annually by Delta Sigma Rho; honorary debate organization, do not become the permanent possession of any group unless won for three consecutive years.

The possibility of permanent possession of the cups is very remote on the present basis. Therefore, it would be a good thing to change the rules so that the cups would become the permanent possession of the group winning them any three years.

With intramural debates starting within a short time, Delta Sigma Rho would be well advised to effect immediately this change. It would make the cups more coveted because of the greater chance of winning them permanently, and in addition, stimulate more interest in the debates.

There appears to be no reason why Delta Sigma Rho would not want to make this change and as the cups go out of circulation, some interested organization will doubtless contribute others.

International House Provides "Home" For Foreign Students

WITH the official dedication of "International House" next Sunday, the University provides a place where students away from their home land can be "at home."

There are 26 foreign countries represented at the University and "International House," which has been attractively furnished, will be very beneficial to these foreign students. As has been pointed out, foreign students seldom affiliate with fraternities or sororities and therefore do not have a place to meet with other students. The new house gives them a place of their own where they can go between classes to chat or study.

Few of the foreign students participate in extra-curricular activities, their only interest being in the International Student Society, to which a great many of them belong. The new house provides a meeting place for this club.

Professor Deibert, who is adviser to Students from Foreign Countries, and who is well qualified to advise them having been a foreign student himself while studying in France, has an office on the second floor of the building and will be convenient to the students for conferences.

Teas which will be held weekly in "International House" adds to the social life of foreign students and creates an opportunity for them to visit each other.

"International House" will give foreign students another contact with the University which is important to their happiness while studying here. The Administration is to be commended for providing these benefits and privileges to our visitors.

Posting of "Guarantee" Would End Bowling Defaults

INTERFRATERNITY bowling begins Saturday night at 8:15 at the Rendezvous alleys. This sport attracts more attention, both within the fraternities and without, than any other competition in which the Greeks engage. For some reason it is becoming THE interfraternity sport.

While this result seems a bit unnatural, it is none the less wholesome. Bowling seems to offer more real opportunity for promotion of university fellowship among the several fraternities than do the other sports.

All games are "played" at the same time and at the same place; it is possible for Greeks of one house to become acquainted with "brothers" from any of the other houses during a bowling session.

Another reason for the popularity of the sport among the Greeks is that, although the number of engagements is necessarily limited as in other interfraternity sports, nevertheless this particular activity lends itself to true alignment of the teams within the leagues—that is, although there are not many contests, nevertheless the best team usually, if not always, comes out on top at the end of the season.

Interfraternity bowling always attracts a good gallery, too, often taxing the house to capacity. And this makes further for "the interfraternity spirit" which we hear so much about, but which never obtains but is worth striving for anyway. (Of course, the fact that there is no admission charge for spectators might have something to do with the size of the spectratum.)

The Interfraternity Council could, however, still strengthen the status of the sport by taking some action to prevent defaults.

Since there is such interest in the sport in most of the fraternities and since, in addition to the five or six or seven men who actually bowl, there is usually a goodly number of supporters present to witness the sport, it is indeed unfair and uncalled for when one team fails to show up for the contest. It "certainly breaks up" the evening for some ten or more men (as well as their dates).

The Hatchet suggests now, as it did last year at the conclusion of the bowling season, that each chapter be required, to post a five or ten dollar guarantee for the appearance of its representatives at the appointed time and place.

Money so forfeited could go to the team "defaulted to", the chapter "defaulted to", to the Council, or could be appropriated in any other way the Council might decide.

Our point is only that this procedure would insure appearance of teams to meet scheduled matches.

Now Is the Time to Study; Not A Few Days Before Exams

NOW that examinations are over and a new semester is in full swing, we might feel inclined to pay little, if any, attention to our studies. After cramming to get through the last exams, it is only natural that we should feel like taking it easy for a few weeks, even though we know it will mean harder work later. But don't do this because it is a psychological fact that there is a limit as to what the human mind can learn and retain in a short period of time. True, some are able to grasp more than others, but it is not reasonable to expect even the most brilliant student to learn by a few days' cramming what a student is expected to learn over a period of five months.

Therefore, it is important that we start now to review and fix in our minds principles and doctrines we will be called upon later to expound.

During exams sometimes our mind has a tricky way of going blank as to facts we thought we had fixed by cramming, and then we have to resort to actual knowledge of which we may have little if we have depended entirely on a last minute review.

In talking with "A" students we learn that they are beginning now to review for the final examinations next June. This shows wisdom and forethought on their part and the "B" and "C" students could well follow their example.

Most of us promised ourselves if we ever got through those last exams we would certainly get each day's lessons as we went along. They are over and we came through all right, let's not forget our resolution to study.

Scholarship Eligibility Requirements Should Be Enforced in All Activities ... (and the Requirements Might Be Changed, Too)

THE HATCHET sports editor—the most efficient sports editor the paper ever had—has just been declared ineligible to continue in office because of low scholarship.

This is not the first time that an associate editor of The Hatchet has been declared ineligible to hold his post on account of low scholarship. Two others having gone the same way—have been connected with the paper.

Also declarations of ineligibility because of low scholarship are not infrequent in the case of athletic teams and a bit less frequent in dramatics.

But enforcement of scholarship rules seems to be confined, so far as I can ascertain, to two activities—publications and athletics.

Some may say that these two activities take more time than any others and therefore those who participate in them do not have sufficient time to devote to their studies.

There is some truth in this statement—publications and athletics do require more time and effort than other campus activities. But I do not believe that low scholarship is confined to these activities.

It is unreasonable to think that while students engaged in publications and athletics frequently do not have required grades, at the same time all members of the Student Council, the Fiesta organization and the other one hundred or so activities on campus do have sufficient scholarship index. Anyway, I have other suspicions.

The truth is, publications and athletics are checked on carefully by a responsible officer of the University, while other organizations seem to run wild. The Graduate Manager of Publications keeps track of those engaged in publications and a gang of physical ed. directors keeps the athletes' scholarship on a high plane.

But who checks the scholarship of independent—by independent I mean not under general supervision of a faculty officer—organizations such as the Student Council? Apparently no one does.

And I think it time that some uniformity of observance of this requirement be adopted.

According to The Catalogue Issue of the George Washington University Bulletin, which ought to be about as official as we can get, a student in Junior College or in Columbian College goes "on probation" when his index drops below 2.0 and when on probation is not eligible to participate in activities.

Certainly the requirements should be enforced as to every organization on campus or the requirements should be changed. (Personally I'm in favor of the latter—I believe a person who has grades enough to stay in school should be permitted to participate in activities.) But one course or the other should be pursued—uniformity or change.

With the addition of Professor Henry G. Roberts, a young man with some foresight and knowledge of student activities as they exist at this school today, to the Student Life Committee, we may expect something on this score from that guiding and protecting body—a body which seems to date to have done nothing on its own initiative, so far as scholarship eligibility goes, except try to evade the issue entirely.

Then, too, we have a "Committee on Eligibility" of which Professor Arthur Johnson is chairman which can probably be counted on to contribute a bit towards getting this matter equitably adjusted.

Undergraduates, Graduates Differ on Proposed Comprehensive Examination to Be Given Seniors in Major Subject Covering Four Years' Work

By Bill Cheatham

HOW much do you remember about a subject by the end of the next semester after you have taken the final examination?

Some educators contend that many college students study a subject just enough to enable them to pass it on a final semester examination. Instead of learning the subject well enough to retain a general knowledge of it for sometime afterwards.

It is understood that the University is now considering plans to give seniors in Columbian College a comprehensive examination in the major course covering the whole four years' work. This would be in addition to the regular semester finals in the senior year.

Most students appear to believe this would enhance the value of a college degree, although some would prefer not to have to take such an examination.

Ross Pope, undergraduate: "I believe the comprehensive examination system is a very good proposal because in order to get a true cross-section of a man's knowledge it is necessary to examine him on all phases of his schooling, which are relevant to his major subject."

"The most obvious fault with the semester examination is the fact that a student's knowledge is tested on only two or three subjects each year and no connection is established between the various courses which go to make up a complete college education."

Margaret Liebler, graduate, now taking law:

"Colleges should go one step further than merely requiring each student to follow a major course of study. They should require students to have a broad, clear understanding of the whole field of his study, rather than a vague, disjointed idea of a few of the component courses which comprise his major curriculum. The review and preparation necessary to take his comprehensive exam would enable the student to appreciate the work accomplished and better prepare him to apply his knowledge."

Carl Mainfort, undergraduate: "Unless of a very general nature such an examination would be unreasonable, requiring too much useless research."

"Only the important parts of a subject can be retained from a classroom. Actual experience and constant use do the rest. Just to review for one long examination would add little to the student's actual knowledge and would require too much time to review several years' of past work."

Norman Mumaw, undergraduate, who, with few exceptions, has almost an A average since entering the University, and who made five A's last semester:

"A student, in my opinion, will study just so much as he goes along regardless of the fact that he has a final comprehensive examination staring him in the face. Some students go to college to learn as much as they can, but some attend because they are sent or because it is a fine place to have a good time. A student who wants to learn will not have trouble on a comprehensive exam while one who merely attends college will have to bone strenuously in order to pass."

Isabella, Counselman, junior: "At present a degree received by a student skimming through semester exams counts for as much as one received by persons who really know their subjects. A comprehensive examination would tend to prevent those who have not really become versed in their fields from obtaining degrees. This would, to some extent, mark a person holding a degree as one more or less specialized in his field and would eliminate his present competition with persons not so well qualified who hold degrees."

Sam Futrowsky, graduate, now taking work towards a master's: "The University would be taking a step in the right direction to adopt the comprehensive examination system for major subjects. The student, after being submitted to this system will receive a degree which will not be merely a pretty scrap of paper, but a true representation of the student's capacity.

"Besides just having a degree, more students will be more adequately equipped to pursue their chosen profession. Review of their work for these examinations will aid the students in correlating the facts they have learned, so that the information will mean more to them than a mass of scattered, unrelated facts."

If every one did attend college to learn all he could, a comprehensive examination would probably be superfluous, but since this is not the case the fear of not passing such an examination might inspire more and better study from some.

There is a difference of opinion by educators as to what a degree should indicate. Some believe it should mean that a person has learned and can use a certain amount of facts. Others regard it as a course to teach one how to learn and to increase his desire to continue to learn as much as he can throughout the remainder of his life.

Is an educated mind like a sieve—the more one runs through it, the brighter it becomes?

Off Campus

With Margaret Davis Robert Howell

Few students in the University can cite experiences that have taken them into a study of European rock formations, a publication of historical articles in the Yiddish and Hebrew languages, or two trips around the world as a member of a ship's crew.

There are people enrolled here, however, who have had these experiences, and today we discuss three of them.

WILLIAM EASTON, geology major spent 1932 in Europe where he made use of opportunities to study geological formations and points of geological interest. It was his "extreme pleasure to fall off Mt. Jumeau" the year after seven men had been killed there. He also did climbing on the Matterhorn and took a 75 mile trip on foot through the Black Forest.

He was in Munich the Sunday when Hitler, returning from Austria, was not allowed to enter the city.

Last summer he discovered one of the two important outcrops of geodes in bedrock in Indiana. These formations act as finders for the best zones of limestone. A year ago this summer he did work of his own in central New York state.

Also interested in the Chesapeake Beach formation, he recently found washed up on the shore an animal of the "petricolaria" family, which has attracted the interest of the National Museum because it was the first of its kind ever reported near here.

Easton chose the University in order to be near the Chesapeake Bay region and to study under Dr. Roy S. Bassler, professor of geology.

Doolan Disagrees With "Flying Chips" Comments

EDITOR: As author of The Hatchet's "Flying Chips" column, Mr. Haley in his articles pertaining to the Union apparently has no desire to consider the principle that a student publication should and ought to be non-partisan in its views. I refer particularly to his contribution regarding Mr. Kiefer's resolution to the effect that the "Executive Council of the Union or some other representative body study the advisability for re-drafting in a university-wide convention the Constitution of the United States."

Mr. Haley throughout his article permeated his discussion with the matter at hand with definite rightist inferences. To give data relative to the ages and occupations of the authors of the Constitution and bring up the amusing comment that "perhaps the Union" personnel will equal or surpass this record is not even a subtle way to bring out one's own opinion. I have no quarrel with Mr. Haley concerning the merits of the Kiefer Resolution; suffice it to say that Kiefer did write the bill. As a matter of fact I voted in a meeting of the Union Executive Council to lay it on the table for later study. But I will take issue with Haley when he uses his column as a mere mouthpiece for the expression of his own pet ideas. A Hatchet news item or editorial on any Union activity should not be colored in order to bring out a Right, Center, or Leftist belief.

Then, too, it would do the Union well if Mr. Haley would elucidate as to what are the precise functions of the Union. Long ago, we who were instrumental in the Union's organization understood that the Union remained within its province so long as it considered and acted upon such bills as may properly be enacted into Federal legislation. Therefore, isn't it conceivable that our present Constitution be so changed as to make it appreciably different from the present document? But I suppose that even a suggestion of this is abhorrent to Mr. Haley's mind.

Mr. Kiefer has consistently worked for the betterment of the Union, and his attitude has been admirably non-partisan on numerous occasions. I believe that his purpose in introducing the resolution was to experiment as to the possible scope of Union activity. Was it Mr. Haley's intention to play up this action of Kiefer so that a ride culc of it might bolster the Right? If so, I might inform him that not only Kiefer, but John Bracken of the Center and John Willard of the Right, discussed the idea months ago with a view to investigating the national aspects of the proposition. Or can it be true that Mr. Haley writes as one inspired by influences outside the University? My wager is that such is the case.

At any rate, it should be reasonable to ask a more non-partisan approach to Union happenings in The Hatchet columns. The Union has established itself on the campus as an organization representative of student political thought. No one asks that it receive a disproportionate share of publicity in the University paper, but every Union member ought to request that in the publicity the Union does receive, there be a noticeable lack of a partisan tint.

ROBERT J. DOOLAN.

Editor's Note: Haley's column is a personal column. It does not necessarily reflect The Hatchet's stand, as we thought all informed readers understood. Union stories in The Hatchet news columns have been most non-partisan, we submit. No regrets, however, if Union members who are personal publicity seekers are disappointed.

Time of Exams O.K., Says Student

THE EDITOR:

In regard to your recent editorial concerning "Law School Final Exams Should Be Held Earlier in Evening", I wonder if you tried to get a consensus of opinion beforehand.

From the standpoint of the students I have talked to, the time of these exams should not be varied from those in the past. For those students who have to work this seems a bit unjust to move the exams up to 5 p. m., because many students are hard-pressed to get to school by 5 p. m. during the regular term. The exams being 4 hours long, it would seem that if the exams were held a bit later, it would give the student a little time to eat and rest before 7 p. m.

As the finals last two and a half weeks, they are usually spread out very adequately for the student, due to the excellent exam schedule planned by the faculty.

On the other hand, I can't see where any added advantage would be gained by getting out two hours earlier, as most students do not study that night after their exams are over.

CHARLES CHESTNUT.

Ping Pong Competitions Start Today

Play in Three Intramural Leagues Will Begin At 12:45

The intramural ping pong tournament will begin today in Building T, second floor, according to Eleanor Livingston and Louise Selfert, co-managers.

The games will be played according to national rules, each game consisting of 21 points. Two out of three games will be required to win a match.

The following leagues have been organized:

League 1, Alpha Delta Pi, Kappa Delta, Beta Phi Alpha, and Kappa Kappa Gamma; league 2, Pi Beta Phi, Chi Omega, Phi Mu, Alpha Delta Theta and Colonial Campus Club; league 3, Sigma Kappa, Delta Zeta, Zeta Tau Alpha, and Phi Sigma Sigma.

Play Starts Today

Play will begin this afternoon at 12:45 with Zeta Tau Alpha opposing Delta Zeta. Kappa Kappa Gamma and Beta Phi Alpha will play at 1:30. At 2:15 Pi Beta and Chi Omega will see action, followed by the match between Alpha Delta Theta and the Colonial Campus Club.

Two matches are scheduled for tomorrow, afternoons. At 12 noon Kappa Delta will play Beta Phi Alpha; at 4 Phi Sigma Sigma opposes Delta Zeta.

The schedule for Thursday is Alpha Delta Pi vs. Kappa Kappa Gamma, 12:45; Chi Omega vs. Colonial Campus Club, 1:30; Phi Mu vs. Alpha Delta Theta, 2:15.

Zeta Meets Sigma Kappa

Friday Zeta Tau Alpha will play Sigma Kappa at 1:45 in the only match scheduled for that day.

Play will resume Feb. 17, at 12 noon with a match between Kappa Delta and Kappa Kappa Gamma. Phi Mu and Chi Omega will tangle at 1.

Three matches are scheduled for Feb. 18: Alpha Delta Pi vs. Beta Phi Alpha, 12:45; Chi Omega vs. Alpha Delta Theta, 1:30; and Pi Beta Phi vs. Colonial Campus Club, 2:15.

Two Matches Feb. 19

Two matches will be played Feb. 19. The first between Zeta Tau Alpha and Phi Sigma Sigma at 3:15, followed by one between Alpha Delta Pi and Kappa Delta at 4.

Feb. 20 Sigma Kappa will play Delta Zeta at 12:45, and Pi Beta Phi and Phi Mu will play at 1:30.

Feb. 21 the schedule will include two matches, one at 1:45, Phi Mu vs. Colonial Campus Club; the other at 2:30, Phi Sigma Sigma vs. Sigma Kappa.

Feb. 24, Pi Beta Phi and Alpha Delta Theta will play at 1.

All changes in the schedule of games will be posted on the Bulletin board in Building T.

Library Alumni Plan Directory

A directory of the Library Science Alumni Association containing the names, addresses, telephone numbers, and positions of members arranged in alphabetical order and by classes may be published in June, according to the February issue of the Library Science Alumni Notes.

A copy of the association's constitution will be included in the publication, which will sell for approximately 50 cents.

Applications for positions on the staff of the publication may be made to Fern Hyatt, 3102 F St., until Mar. 1, it has been announced.

Engineering Societies Will Visit Justice Dept.

The University branches of the three engineering societies will visit the Department of Justice tomorrow evening. The group will be led by Robert Walleigh, president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers; Thomas T. Adams, president of the American Society of Civil Engineers; and Louis Rezek, president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

The engineers will be shown through the various sections of the department, including the pistol ranges and the fingerprint files.

Rummage Sale Mar. 7 Sponsored by W.A.A.

A rummage sale, sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association, will be held Mar. 7 in the building on the northwest corner of 21st and K Streets, according to Christine Herrmann, chairman of the rummage sale committee.

Contributions will be gladly received in the office in Building T any time prior to the date set for the sale.

Richie, Cooke Married; Wells, Koch Engaged

Reeves Ritchie and Gladys Cooke were married last week. Both are students in the University. George Wells, Theta Delta Chi, will be married to Martha Koch, Feb. 22.

Banking Is A. K. Psi Topic

The Banking Act of 1935, and its effect on the Federal Reserve Board, will be the topic of discussion at a meeting of Alpha Kappa Psi, commerce and business fraternity, tomorrow at 8:30 in H-201.

Campus Club Meets

The Colonial Campus Club held a meeting last night in Columbian House. Some of the members of the club attended the basketball game afterwards.

Teachers Honor Lathrop

Miss Elizabeth A. Lathrop, assistant professor of library science at the University, has been elected president of the District Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, national honorary society of women-teachers.

Westminster Club Meets

The Westminster Club will meet on the second floor of Columbian House tonight at 8 o'clock, according to Dorothy McPheeters, secretary.

Rejuvenation of New W. A. A. Club Nearly Complete

Former Office-Storeroom in Building T Given by Miss Atwell, Physical Education Department Head

Furnishing, decorating, and rejuvenation of the W. A. A. club room, given by Miss Ruth H. Atwell, head of the women's physical education department, to the Women's Athletic Association last fall, is now sufficiently advanced for results to become apparent.

The room, which is located on the third floor of Building T, formerly served as the office of Miss Helen M. Lea. When work began on its transformation, such things as baseball bats, old volley and basketballs, archery equipment, and old corrected hockey exams (marks ranging from 54 up) cluttered up the new home of W. A. A.

While Jerry Massey, archery manager, removed the aforementioned articles, other ambitious souls, including Frances Ridgway and Ethel Nelson, painted chairs, a table, waste paper basket, window sills and everything else in sight, black.

A couch cover of green material, cut out and pinned together, quite transformed the sofa so generously donated to the organization. Cushions took on a new, inviting look when they acquired covers of contrasting red and green.

The can of black paint that has played such an important part in the transformation of the Women's Athletic Association clubroom is shown in the picture to the left surrounded by Doris Dungan, Ethel Nelson, chairman of the committee on decorating, and Leila Holley.

Curtains cut from gay material with a background of red and a foreground of polo scenes and silver loving cups gave the room a gala air.

Lamps, pictures, books, magazines, and other accessories will be added later to make the room more attractive. Donations will be gladly received in Building T, by Ethel M. Nelson, chairman of the committee in charge of the clubroom.

The accompanying photographs show various stages of the work, including painting, curtain hanging, and refurbishing.

The participants shown are Ethel Nelson, Doris Dungan, Barbara Feiker, Leila Holley, and Frances Prather. However, many other members of the Women's Athletic Association have taken interest in the project and have contributed their time and efforts to the work.

Hartung Gets Rifle Award

Membership and Captains of Class Teams Are Named

Betty Hartung will be awarded a medal as the winner of the 1936 women's individual rifle squad match, which was completed during January, according to Marjorie Sehorn, captain of the rifle team.

The match, which was fired in two stages, was restricted to members of the G. W. squad.

Last year Dahlia Lewis won the medal, and the year before, Ruth Brewer. Both are now members of the varsity.

High Scores

The five high scores of the match were as follows:

Betty Hartung ..... 191
Erma Cannon ..... 188
Maria Drane ..... 188
Julia Stanton ..... 188
Tinker Considine ..... 186

Class matches will be fired during February. Class captains have already been selected, and class teams will be chosen this week. The class captains, selected by Coach Helen Hanford on the basis of high scores in the match and practice, are Betty Hartung, captain of the junior-senior team; Mary Jane Livingston, sophomore team; and Tinker Considine, freshman team.

The class teams will be chosen by Coach Hanford, Manager Eleanor Livingston, and the captains of the respective teams from among the following girls:

Class Squads

Freshmen: Helen Baldwin, Louise Clark, Tinker Considine, Pat Davis, Betty Emerson, Pat McKusick, Marie McNeese, Mary Jo Mitchell, and Georgia Regn.

Sophomores: Harriet Giltner, Mary Jane Livingston, Frances McMillan, and Frances Prother.

Junior-Senior: Erma Cannon, Eleanor Carroll, Maria Drane, Mary Hand, Betty Hartung, and Julia Stanton.

There are positions open for assistant managers on Tuesday from 1 p. m. to 3 p. m., and on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6 to 8 o'clock. Those interested should apply to Eleanor Livingston, manager. No experience is necessary.

Delta Theta Phi Fetes Dean Arnold Thursday

Dean Earl Arnold of the Vanderbilt University Law School will be honored at a dinner by Delta Theta Phi, national law fraternity, at the University Club, Thursday at 7:30 p. m. The active and alumni members of Wilson Senate are expected to attend. Charles Romney, dean of the Senate, will be in charge.

Dean Arnold, who was formerly a professor of law at George Washington, is an honorary member of Delta Theta Phi. He was given this honor by the George Washington Senate while a professor here.

Tourney Opens In Badminton Doubles Feb. 24

The mixed doubles badminton tournament will be played during the week of Feb. 24 in the evenings in the gym, according to Max Farrington, assistant director of men's athletics, and Miss Helen M. Lea, women's physical education department. The matches will be played off in three evenings.

Applicants to participate will be given a week in which to sign up, and the practice hours are scheduled for Friday mornings from 9-11 in the gym, where the boys and girls will practice together.

The first part of the women's doubles badminton tournament is to be played off in class periods. The semi-finals and finals are to be played off Friday afternoon, Feb. 21, in the gym.

Hour Glass Meets Tonight

Hour Glass honor society will hold a meeting tonight at 8 p. m. in the Kappa Kappa Gamma rooms.

Team Goes To Baltimore

Basketball Triangular Meet Takes Place Saturday

The annual basketball triangular meet between Goucher College, Hood College, and the University will take place Saturday at Goucher in Baltimore.

The bus carrying the G. W. teams will leave Building T at 12 noon Saturday. Games will begin at 1:30 p. m. at the Western High School in Baltimore.

The University will take four class teams and two substitutes for each team. Each player must take a clean regulation green gym suit, white sweater, and socks.

After the games, the teams will be the guests of Goucher College at dinner, served in the college dining hall. The bus will leave directly after dinner for the return trip to Washington.

Acacia, S. P. E. Phi Mu's, Sigs Initiate Thirty

Annual spring initiations for fraternities and sororities began last week when one sorority and three fraternities initiated 30.

Last Thursday Phi Mu held formal initiation at the home of Barbara Ruffin. The new initiates are Anne Baptist, Eloise Bennett, Carol Fries, Elva Lohr, Mary Martin, Rachel Moore, and Kathleen White.

Sigma Chi announces the initiation of Mark Atchison, Keller Cherry, Thomas Dobson, Allan Elgren, Charles Hoyt, John Kendrick, David Rhymes, John Southmayd, Read Thornton, and Robert Walker.

Acacia announces the initiation of Harry Miller, Harold Minor, Jack Pickens, and James Speer.

Sigma Phi Epsilon held formal initiation last Sunday. The new initiates are Edgar Davidson, Paul Green, John Kennedy, Harold McConnell, George Morgan, Ben Hill Reddick, Theodore Register, Earl Titty, and Harvey Wright.

Coach Helps Pick Teams

Volley Ball Managers Meet to Select New Members

The Freshman, Sophomore and Junior class managers of volleyball will meet with Miss Helen M. Lea, volleyball coach, and Ethel Nelson, manager, Thursday at 3:30 p. m. in Building T, to select the members of the volleyball teams which will take part in the competition beginning Feb. 19.

A list of those who have made one of the three teams will be posted Friday morning on the bulletin board on the first floor of Building T, and will also be published in The Hatchet.

Eleanor Livingston, junior class manager in charge of Team One, to be selected from the Mon-Wed. class; Louise Erk, sophomore class manager, in charge of Team Two, to be selected from the Tues-Thurs. class; and Patricia McKusick, freshman class manager, in charge of Team Three, to be selected from the Wed-Fri. class; will help officiate at the games.

Fraternities Will Honor St. Valentine

Acacia, S. P. E., Dance This Week; Other Greeks Choose Feb. 22

Now that examinations and registration are well in the past, students are participating in a rising tide of social activities with Valentine dances demanding primary attention this week.

Acacia will give a dance at the house Friday night. Sigma Phi Epsilon is holding its annual "Heart Dance" at the house Saturday from 10 until 12. The "Moods in Blue" will play. The dance is in honor of new initiates.

Kappa Sigma is celebrating its founder's day with a dance Feb. 21. George Bass' orchestra will provide the music.

Alpha Delta Pi's annual Washington's Birthday tea dance will be held at 2400 16th St. Sigma Chi will hold a formal, closed dance at the house Feb. 22, and S. A. E. is planning a dance for the same night.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon entertained at a dance Saturday night at the house from 10 until 2. Jack Benson's orchestra played. After the dance there was an informal gathering at the home of Bruce Stillwell. Yesterday, the alumni chapter enjoyed a poker party.

There was a dance at the Kappa Alpha house Saturday night, and Phi Sigma Kappa also gave a dance Saturday. Jack Morton's orchestra provided music for the T. U. O. dance the same night. It was at the house, and lasted from 10 until 1. They will hold a founders' day banquet next Monday at 8:30 p. m.

International Students Hold Valentine Party

The International Students Society will hold a Valentine's Day party for foreign students and their friends Friday night at 8 in International House. Tatyana Jansy, of Russia, is chairman of the program which will consist of music and games.

Others assisting with the party are Pascasio Quinones and Miguel Romeo, of Puerto Rico; Elizabeth Cotton and Frances Johnson, England; George Mueller, Helga Schulz, and Gertrude Oehlman, Germany; and Samuel Sampath, India.

man class manager, in charge of Team Three, to be selected from the Wed-Fri. class; will help officiate at the games.

A summary of the schedule is as follows: Team One vs. Team Two, Feb. 19; Team Two vs. Team Three, Feb. 25; and Team One vs. Team Three, Mar. 3. There will be a surprise award for the winning team.

Collier Article Hits Viewpoint Of Legal Mind

Law Review Story Evinces Surprise at Shifting Opinions

In the current edition of The George Washington Law Review, Prof. Charles S. Collier deplors "the perverse ingenuity often shown by the judicial mind in arriving cheerfully at the conclusion that no legal power whatever on subjects of immense practical importance is vested in the one branch of the government that can effectively exercise it, under actual circumstances."

Further along in his article "Judicial Bootstraps and the General Welfare Clause—The AAA Opinion", Professor Collier suggests a solution for the judicially-made obstruction to Federal action, based on his conclusion that "there is no ground for supposing that the framers of the Constitution intended to mark out a vast field in which neither the state nor the nation could act effectively."

Professor Collier, who is visiting professor of law at the University of Wisconsin this semester, also remarked that he is "surprised to observe the nonchalance with which a thousand lawyers have applauded the ruling of the Court, not one of whom can quote one single prior decision from out of one hundred and sixty-six years of Supreme Court history that adequately sustains or corroborates the ruling in the Hoosac Mills case, as to the scope of judicial jurisdiction to review the constitutionality of federal appropriations."

daily press, and will cooperate with The Hatchet in providing Fiesta news. It will prepare, arrange, and present radio programs. It will soon begin extensive program publicity in the city and on the campus. All contests will be under Apter's direction.

Apter has served as publicity chairman of many activities on campus. He was publicity editor of the 1935 Cherry Tree, and was a Senior Staff member on The Hatchet. He was business manager of the 1935 Scholastic Press Convention, and is a member of Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalistic fraternity.

Egan Directs Personnel
Miss Egan will serve as director of personnel. This division includes the office staff, secretaries, typists, file clerks, accountants, and messengers. Through her unit will come all reports from the other divisions of the organization. Independent units, not directly affiliated with major activities under the three other associate directors, will report through her division.

Miss Egan served on both the publicity and queen staffs of last year's Fiesta. She was secretarial director of the 1935 Scholastic Press Convention, and is a staff member of The Hatchet, the Handbook, and the Cherry Tree. Her social sorority is Zeta Tau Alpha.

Concessions Under Fisher
Fisher is director of concessions. His unit includes the exhibit staff, concession supply store, ticket staff, and free prize staff. He is responsible for the setting up of a system of concessions, coordinating all their activities, issuing supplies, and reporting income and expenditures. Concessions include all booths and exhibits located on the Fiesta grounds proper.

He has worked his way up in the Fiesta organization, last year being storekeeper in the concessions division. His social fraternity is Acacia.

Godley Construction Chief
Godley, the fourth associate director, is in charge of the construction division, which includes the electrical and carpentry staffs as well as all necessary general construction. His unit will set up all physical facilities on the Fiesta grounds proper, constructing and assembling the stage and properties for the dramatic productions, and constructing miscellaneous projects.

He has had extensive background in designing and constructing. He built the Interfraternity Council float for the 1935 Halloween parade, and the sets in "She Loves Me Not". He was instrumental in decorating and improving the recreation room in the basement of his fraternity house, Sigma Chi.

Sangster Elected Head by Masons

New officers of the Masonic Club are George Sangster, president; Paul Vanness, vice president; and Eddie Robertson, secretary-treasurer, according to an announcement from Jimmie Haley, outgoing president.

The first activity which the new cabinet will sponsor is the annual national cherry blossom contest, Feb. 18 and 19, proceeds of which will go to the endowment fund of the School of Government.

Division of Fine Arts Moves Into Building A

The Division of Fine Arts has moved into its new location, Building A, at 2131 G St. First classes in the new building will meet this morning.

All except the lecture classes have been localized in the new building. Eugene Weiss's historic painting and sculpture class will be held in B-22 Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. However, the classes of environment appreciation, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday at 12 noon, and art and nature appreciation, Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 5 p. m., will be held in the main studio of Building A.

ogy. He previously spent two years on a scholarship at an arts and letters college, but discontinued his work there because no science courses were offered.

MURRAY FRANK, a master of the Hebrew and Yiddish languages, last year had published in the monthly magazine of the "Yiddish Scientific Institute of Poland" a group of articles on the history of the Jews in Western European countries.

A native of New York City, he is a graduate of the Jewish Teachers Seminary, and later took work at New York University. He taught Jewish literature and history in a secular school for two years in New York. He registered in the University School of Education, Sept., 1934, and will be graduated in June.

Last year he made a 15 minute talk over WJVS on Maimonides, the Jewish philosopher, and recently he has given a series of historical lectures at the Jewish Community Center.

Since enrolling in the University, he has made large wall-size maps for the history department.

In addition to his knowledge of Hebrew and Yiddish, Frank has also studied French and Latin, and is now enrolled in second year German. He possesses some knowledge of Russian, and Holland Dutch.

Two trips around the world and a cruise to the Mediterranean, immediately preceded HARVEY WRIGHT'S registration in the University in Sept., 1934. He worked in the steward's department of a vessel on the Dollar Line from July, 1933, until August, 1934.

His first trip on the line, to the Mediterranean was a special chartered voyage. He left in July and got back to this country late in August, 1933.

The trips around the world were run on strict schedules. Each cruise lasted three months and 20 days and for this reason the ships stopped in the various ports only long enough to load and unload passengers and cargo. The crew was thus occupied during most of the time in port and the passengers were allowed little time for sight-seeing.

Wright is now registered in the Junior College. He is taking business administration and will enter the School of Government.

Women Plan Debate Trials

Farley and Edelman Have Prepared Speeches for Model Senate

The Women's Debate Council will meet tomorrow at 1:10 p. m., in Building S, to discuss the women's debate schedule and make plans for tryouts. All women interested in debate may attend the meeting.

Maxine Farley and Reba Edelman, who were selected to represent the University at the second annual conference of the Model Senate Association at New Jersey College for Women, Brunswick, N. J., Feb. 13, 14, and 15, have prepared their speeches, in which they will act as Senators from Oklahoma at the conference.

Miss Edelman will take the question dealing with proposed powers of Congress to over-ride decisions of the Supreme Court; and Miss Farley is prepared to debate on a neutrality act. Both women will speak on a third measure to be discussed at the conference, a new pure food and drug law.

Phi Sigma Rho Hears Virginian Tomorrow Night

R. Catesby Talliaferro, of the University of Virginia, will give a talk on medieval philosophy before the Phi Sigma Rho philosophical society tomorrow at 8:15 p. m. in L-10.

Scholars are now discovering that there was a considerable amount of philosophy during the medieval period about which they formerly knew nothing, according to Mr. Talliaferro, who has done considerable research in this field.

All students are cordially invited to be present, according to Morris Short, president. After the lecture, there will be informal discussion of the subject.

Physical Exams Given to Students In Gym Classes

All new students registered in physical education are required to take a physical examination to be given by the University medical staff Feb. 15, from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. in the gymnasium, according to Max Farrington, instructor of physical education for men.

Students who received an "incomplete" in physical education for the first semester because they did not take the examination may receive their grades upon being examined at this time.

Grades in physical education will be withheld unless this examination requirement is met.

Novice Skater Downcast After Shock From Impact

By Margaret Clark

As she slid along that icy day, slowly and carefully picking her way through the crowd, many a pitying glance followed her.

The little boys nudged each other, as unkind little boys will, and said audibly, "Look!" But some of the young girls glanced at her somewhat kindly, thinking, "That might have been me, if...."

But she only trudged along, often looking at no one, occasionally darting a quick glance around her, but always casting her eyes back down on her feet. A painful flush on her face already raw with cold, a jug at her collar to pull her sweater closer to her neck, and a still-def-ant jerk of her head were the only indications that she was conscious of the happy groups moving briskly around her.

All would have been well had not one little boy, pursuing a victim careened into her unsteady figure with such an impact that it sent her to the ground with hardly a moment's warning.

There she remained, a pathetic figure, cold and bruised, lacking the energy or ambition to rise again. For some reason her plight seemed to afford amusement to the passers-by as she slowly raised her eyes and glanced over the sea of friendless faces. She muttered, "The whole world's against you when you're down."

As she tried to rise to her knees, however, she saw a figure approaching her with outstretched hands. A young man, a fine looking young man, the kind of which boy scouts are made, and a bright smile broke over her discouraged face. His silhouette in front of her looked like a hymnbook of American chivalry.

"Oh," she said, "I'm glad to see you. Please help me. Take these awful skates off, Jack. I guess I just never was cut out for an ice skater."

Going to town with Luckies A LIGHT SMOKE of rich, ripe-bodied tobacco

Over a period of years, certain basic advances have been made in the selection and treatment of cigarette tobaccos for Lucky Strike Cigarettes. They include preliminary analyses of the tobacco selected; use of center leaves; the higher heat treatment of tobacco ("Toasting"); consideration of acid-alkaline balance; with consequent definite improvement in flavor; and controlled uniformity in the finished product. All these combine to produce a superior cigarette—a modern cigarette, a cigarette made of rich, ripe-bodied tobaccos—A Light Smoke.

Luckies are less acid

Recent chemical tests show that other popular brands have an excess of acidity over Lucky Strike of from 53% to 100%.

Varsity, Frosh Quints Play Three Games Each

Colonials Face D.E. Friday

Davis-Elkins Tilt Is Away, As Is Game With W. Va. Saturday

Monday Night Finds G.W. Meeting Westminster At Tech High

THE Colonial five will attempt to make three additions to its list of victims, Friday, Saturday, and Monday with Davis-Elkins, West Virginia, and Westminster playing the part of prospective losers.

On their first trip since the Wake Forest game, Jan. 8, George Washington travels to Elkins, W. Va., Friday to meet the Senators in a return game. Then the team will play Westminster at Morgantown Saturday night, and it will return to Washington to be host to Westminster Monday night at Tech.

Davis-Elkins is expected to give the Colonials a harder battle in their own gym than they did Wednesday when they lost, 40-28. The Senators have a potential winning team when it clicks and on their own court, Jersey Gainer and Ed Gutowski, who did so well here last week may easily break into a scoring rash to give the Washingtonians an uneasy night.

Zone Defense
The Senators have an effective zone defense and if the Reinhartmen are the least bit clumsy or sloppy in their fast passing attack, the West Virginians will have a fine chance to upset the varsity.

The next night, the locals will play a strong West Virginia team at Morgantown. According to experts, the G. W. basketball stand a good chance of losing to the Mountaineers because of the interpretation the referees give one phase of the rules. At Morgantown, the officials will allow running pickoffs and blocks which are banned in every other city, including Washington. Therefore the Colonials will be at a disadvantage in this respect.

The Mountaineers are powerful, as is evidenced by their defeats of Pitt, Temple, and Carnegie Tech. Though they also lost to these teams on their opponents' courts, these wins cannot be held lightly. Last year G. W. lost to the Mountaineers, 43-41 in a game that had the fans in hysterics. The Colonials will be on their toes to avenge this defeat.

Westminster Here
Westminster College comes here Monday to play at Tech High. The Pennsylvania team has a high scoring as well as a close guarding outfit, and the Colonials will need all of their cleverness and skill to lower the Titans' colors.

The United Presbyterians, as Westminster is called, have scored 376 points in their opponents 244 in ten games. George Bennett has scored 144 points personally, an average of nearly 15 points a game. Ed Willis, the closest man to Bennett has compiled 69 points.

The Titans have defeated Geneva, who gave the Colonials a hard battle not long ago. The Pennsylvania team has lost to Pitt and then to Carnegie Tech 37-30, but in a return game, the Titans downed Carnegie, 22-10, which augurs no good for G. W.

O'Brien Leads Scoring Race

Kiesel Advances to Second Place; Goldfaden Is Third

WEATHERING a strong bid by Hal Kiesel for scoring honors in the basketball race, Tommy O'Brien, sharpshooting forward, retained a six-point lead over the center when the smoke cleared from the Geneva and Davis-Elkins games. Ben Goldfaden dropped to third place.

Kiesel made a brave attempt for the leadership, piling up 19 points against Geneva, but O'Brien nearly paralleled him by scoring 15 markers against the Covenanters. Goldfaden lost his second place position by scoring only one field goal and two fouls.

O'Brien made nine against Davis-Elkins to give him a total of 122 and Kiesel scored 10 against the Senators for 116 points. Goldfaden scored six for a total of 101. Tuffy Leemans, and Milt Schonfeld, making great strides in the past few games has 48 points.

Admission 35 Cents
The price of admission for the G. W. Frosh-Rinaldi Tailor game Friday night will be 35 cents.

State Beats Gophers
Ohio State crushed Minnesota Saturday, 44-28.

Sensors Win
Davis-Elkins swamped Southwestern at the "Y," 44 to 17.

Nervousness Is Rifler's Main Foe

Tilt With Navy Due Friday, Navy Offers Strong Opposition to G.W. Team

IN preparing the George Washington varsity rifle squad for its tilt with Navy Friday, Coach Frank T. Parsons, Jr., finds that his major job to perform is to relieve the G.W. sharpshooters of their streak of nervousness which was evident last Friday in the G. W.-University of Florida meet.

This streak of nervousness, which was evident in the whole squad including the four second-year men, was the big cause of the low scores produced. The general opinion of winning this meet is very pessimistic, while Coach Parsons is much more optimistic, feeling that G. W. will win this meet even with the low scores produced.

An average of ten points per man will be required this Friday to win over Navy, 1935 National Rifle Championship Team. Navy defeated Yale 1374-1361 in a meet last Saturday.

Other local rifle meets of the Middle Atlantic Rifle League scheduled this Friday are: Maryland University vs. University of Florida; Georgetown vs. V. M. I. and V. P. I. vs. West Point.

G. W. scores in the G. W.-Florida meet:

|          | Pr. | Kn. | St. | Til. |
|----------|-----|-----|-----|------|
| Harlan   | 98  | 92  | 83  | 273  |

Hatchet Again Names All-Fraternity Five

Champion Sigma Nu Places One on Mythical Team

(Editor's Note—This year two members of the Hatchet sports staff, Jim Thomas and Howard Mace, together with I. Ray Howard, interfraternity sports chairman, put their heads together and came out with the following selections for the Hatchet's annual All-Fraternity basketball team, whereas in preceding years the selections were made by one person.)

SIX fraternities were represented on the Interfraternity All-Star basketball team selected at the close of the past season. These fraternities were: Acacia, Sigma Nu, Sigma Chi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Sigma Kappa and Theta Delta Chi. A seventh fraternity, Kappa Alpha, placed a man on the honorable mention list. Five of the men selected on the first two teams were from league A, and the other five, from league B.

Sigma Nu, 1935-36 champions, placed but one man on the first team; Paul Swafford, star forward. Due to his outstanding work all season Swafford was not only placed on the All-Frat team for the second successive year but was honored with the choice as honorary captain of the squad. In the finals against Sigma Chi Swafford scored nine of his teams 14 points

Frat Bowling Tourney Opens

Rendezvous Alleys Scene Of Pin Tilts

SATURDAY night the crash of falling pins will open the Interfraternity Bowling competition at the Rendezvous Alleys on Fourteenth Street. In the first game Phi Sigma Kappa, last year's winner, will defend its laurels against the bowlers of Sigma Chi, while Sigma Nu, runner-up of a year ago, will reassert their claims on the cup against the S. A. E.'s.

All games will start at 8:15, with no grace time being allowed. Failure to have a team on the floor ready of competition at the time designated will mean forfeiture of the evening's game. All lists of bowlers eligible for competition must be in the hands of I. Ray Howard, Interfraternity Athletic Chairman, at the Tau Kappa Epsilon house not later than Thursday, Feb. 13.

The winning Phi Sigma Kappa team of last year is entirely disbanded, all of the men having graduated or left school. The same is largely true of the Sigma Nu team. No advance predictions have been made that throw any light upon the possible strength of any of the twelve teams comprising the two leagues.

All games, to be held every Saturday night for the next six weeks, will be held at the Rendezvous Alleys, on Fourteenth St. between Buchanan and Crittenden Sts., and will begin promptly at 8:15 p.m.

The schedule for the next two weeks follows:

Leads D. C. Scorers

Tommy O'Brien, Flashy Forward, Tops Locals With 122 Points

TOMMY O'BRIEN, the Colonial's consistent scoring court, led the field of local college basketball players last week with a record of 122 points in 12 games, an average of 10.17 points per game.

Next behind O'Brien in number of points scored is the lanky Buff and Blue center, Hal Kiesel, with a record of 116 points for an average of 9.67 per game. However, Vic Willis of Maryland stands next to O'Brien in the number of points scored per game, with a 10.09 average.

The Colonials lead the four major quintets of the District, having scored 502 points to their opponents 294 in 12 games, an average of better than 41 points a game to their opponents 24.

Gate & Key Award To Be Made Mar. 6

The trophy which is presented each year by the Gate and Key honorary society to the most valuable basketball player in the University will be presented at the Interfraternity Prom, Mar. 6, at the Willard Hotel.

It is hoped that this year the selection will take into consideration both the offensive and the defensive abilities, team work, and consistency. The voting of the sport's writers of the Washington newspapers and The Hatchet and the vote of Coach Bill Reinhart will decide to whom the award will be given. In the instance of a tie vote the Buff and Blue basketball players will cast their votes.

Sexton Returns

"Jolly Jean" Sexton, Freshman football coach, is back at his desk after a tour through the mid-west.

Frosh Swim Team Meets Central High

WHILE the Colonial varsity swimming team remains idle this week, the freshmen swimmers will challenge once more the Central High pool.

Though the results of this meet will mean much to Coach Max Roth, the freshmen team having previously tied Central High, dire results are expected. The team is in need of swimmers, having lost several by illness, while the Centralites have greatly increased their strength.

Second Straight

George Washington's varsity swimming team won its second straight contest Saturday when it swamped Virginia Polytechnic's mermen at the Shoreham pool, 45-22.

Making his debut in inter-collegiate swimming this season, Beverly Carter won the 220 and 440-yard dashes, while his fellow collegian, Carl Schmitt, shared his honors of stardom by winning the 50- and 100-yard dashes.

Captain Henry Yonder Bruegge swam for the first time in six meets, finishing second in the 50- and 100-yard dashes and swimming in the winning 400-yard relay team. Ben Catchings, Carter and Schmitt completing the team.

Two Pool Records

Though having lost both the Baltimore Polytech and the Junior Y. M. C. A. swimming contests last week, the Buff and Blue freshmen team set two new pool records at the G Street pool. The Junior Y. M. C. A. defeated the G. W. freshmen swimming team, 42-24.

Joe La Salle set a new record in the 100-yard free-style to the time of 55.5 seconds, while he did the 50-yard free style in 24.15 seconds.

Colonial Five Wins 9th In Row

Davis-Elkins Victim of G.W., 40-28; Close Guarding Features

CLOSE guarding resulting in spectacular potshooting was the outstanding feature of the Colonial five's win over the Davis-Elkins Senators Wednesday when George Washington basketballers looped their way to a 40-28 victory over the West Virginians in the G. W. gym. It was G. W.'s ninth straight triumph.

In the first half, which ended with the Colonials ahead 19-15, 10 of the 12 field goals were pot shots, neither of the teams being able to work in close to the basket. However, in the second-half, Hal Kiesel, Tommy O'Brien, and Ben Goldfaden led the way to a 36-18

Rinaldi Tailors, Washington-Lee High Are Also Listed

Yearlings Seek Fifteenth Victory of Season Tomorrow Night

THE Frosh basketballers resume their court conflicts tomorrow night, meeting the quintet from George Washington High at Alexandria, Friday night, the Yearlings play host to the Rinaldi Tailors Quint, the only team that has beaten them so far this season, and are anxious to make amends for that setback. The Frosh have been anxiously waiting this second tilt with the Tailormen and will be out for blood with the first tot of the whistle.

On Monday night of next week, the Washington-Lee High will play a return game with the yearlings, and will be out for revenge for the stinging defeat they suffered at the hands of the Buff and Blue in the "Tin Tabernacle."

The "Fighting Frosh" continued on their winning ways by virtue of three decisive victories during the past week, coming through in fine style against the teams of Washington-Lee High School, the Y. M. C. A., and Roosevelt High.

Beat Baker's Team

The Frosh got off to a flying start on Wednesday night when they took on the team coached by Johnny Baker, Washington-Lee High, at Ballston, winning with comparative ease, 34-5. Bob Faris led the Frosh with a total of 14 points, while Sid Silkowitz amassed a total of four baskets for 8 points. The W.-L. boys were held in tow for a

"Fighting Frosh" Five Files Entry In District A. A. U. Basketball Event

Winner of 12 of its 13 games to date, the George Washington University's crack freshman basketball team has filed its entry in the unlimited division of the District A. A. U. Basketball Tourney, sponsored by the Washington Post.

The tournament, which begins Feb. 18 at the Heurich Gym, is an annual affair, and two years ago the team of Goldfaden, Berg, Russell, and Co. walked off with the title, and then went on to beat Baltimore's unlimited representative and capture the South Atlantic crown.

Sid Silkowitz, Bob Paris, Quinn Collins, Bruce Borum, Vic Sampson, Joe Beronco, and Joe Brennan will welcome a second chance to revenge the defeat which Rinaldi Tailors hung on them, if the drawings are such that they will get a crack at them. Besides Rinaldi, teams of such caliber as Bureau of Investigation, Resettlement, Olmstead, Gril, Delaware and Hudson, and Heurich Senate Bear are also entered.

Many Former Students Hold Library Posts

Several Alumnae Now Have Government Service Positions

Many former library science students have been recently appointed to positions in that field.

Mildred Benton, '34, was appointed librarian at the Soil Conservation Service in the Department of Agriculture, Jan. 16. Mrs. Ella R. Little, '32, is librarian in the Seventh District office of the Forest Service. Margaret Maltby, '33, is connected with the library of the Office of Education, Department of the Interior.

Helen E. Ratcliff, '32, is library assistant in the Forest Service. Elizabeth G. Wilson, '31, has been appointed assistant librarian of the New Britain Public Library, New Britain, Conn. Evelyn F. Peake, '30, is assistant in the cataloging division of the District Public Library, and Mrs. Jean Y. Webber, '29, was appointed library assistant in the Northeastern branch of the District Public Library on Oct. 1.

Mildred J. Moore, '31, is librarian at Eastern High School. Elizabeth White, '32, is assistant librarian at American University, and Edith S. Phillips, '32, has remained here in the position of cataloguer.

Wilhelmina S. Ludwig, '35, is a clerk in the filing and information service of the National Geographic Society. Mrs. Virginia M. Smithson, '35, is in the cataloging department of the Public Documents Library.

Marshall Speaks On Brain Waves

Dr. Wade H. Marshall, of the department of physiology of the Medical School, gave a talk on "brain waves" before the neurological section of the District Medical Society Thursday night.

"Discussing the recent discovery of brain waves, Dr. Marshall said that although their significance is not yet known, with a period of observation and experiment, these waves may be found to be of considerable scientific import.

Several of the Medical School faculty were tested for the "Berger rhythm", which is the technical term for brain waves. This was done by attaching moist electrodes to the scalp and running from each a wire to a radio amplifying hook up which recorded wave vibrations on a connected oscillograph. While some of the subjects showed pronounced "Berger rhythm", several recorded none at all.

Berger rhythm are believed to arise in the occipital cortex or the visual center of the brain as it has been found that these waves are increased when the eyes are closed and the subject is relaxed. Brain waves, though, it was pointed out are in no way like the sudden "inspirations" that many of us experience.

Three Tilts This Week for Frosh

total of only only basket for the entire game.

On Friday night, the yearlings defeated the local Y. M. C. A. team and came through once more, this time by a score of 37-19. Silkowitz, Bruce Borum and Faris were the big guns for the Frosh in this game.

Top Riders Again
The Roosevelt Riders fell before the onslaught of the Frosh on the following night, losing by a score of 34-13. So strong was the defense of the yearlings that the Riders were held to a mere 2 points during the first half. The score at half time was 22-2. In this game the Frosh were led by Silkowitz and seven Vic Sampson with eight and seven points respectively. Silverman led the Roosevelt quint with six markers. The latter two games were played in the "Tin Tabernacle."

Student Tells Proper Way To Begin New Semester

By Toby Gerber

The tumult and the shouting have died and the shaken and scarred survivors have returned to the scene of their battles, so a treatise on how to start a new semester right seems appropriate.

This is a serious topic, in that it will bear directly on success or failure in final exams, and should, therefore, be treated accordingly.

Now, of course, is the psychological moment to buy all textbooks. It is impossible to resolve to study if one has no textbook. In fact, one is defeated at the start if he has no textbooks. Besides, parents have suspicious natures and probably will not understand why they are not presented with bills for the advancement of knowledge.

Next, be careful not to take a front seat. There comes a time in every student's life, when he has a letter to write, a night's sleep to get in, or next hour's lesson to prepare. This fits, through various experiments, been proven impossible to do in row A, seat 1. There is also the possibility that one's professors might be catching on to the front seat racket (which will one of these days be the subject for a startling expose), and if we laugh at all the jokes, the learned sage will probably catch on.

Next, clean out your notebook and make a firm resolve to keep only notes in it; to take notes in ink; or at least to take notes. Notes are a most serious, though slightly wearying institution. It has been found that drawing pictures on the margin of one's notebook is a lot of fun, in addition to promoting art. We emphatically don't advise abandoning notetaking for a carefully posed intelligent attention to the professor. Also, a rapt attentive expression on your face probably will not be very helpful. Professors won't appreciate it and they are apt to be confused.

A very interesting experiment in beginning a new semester is to change one's personality. This is quite entertaining and is bound to cause excitement among your nearest and dearest. Or else you can resolve to drink only two "cokes" a day, or to stop using lipstick, or leave off mistreating your younger sister. But let it be a period of change. As Adam said to Eve when they were cast out of Eden, "My dear, we are living in an age of great transition."

Any student who follows our enlightened advice will have nothing to worry about, that is, nothing except the small matter of how to pass the final exam.

score, and the Reinhartmen coasted in ahead.

Milt Schonfeld and Hal Kiesel led the scoring parade with five field goals each, while Tommy O'Brien was close on their heels with 9 points. For the Ser-tors Jerry Gainer, gridiron quarterback, shoved 9 points through the hoop.

By mild ripe tobacco we mean just this—

FIRST—ripened in the sunshine... and picked leaf by leaf from the right part of the stalk when fully ripe.

THEN—each day's picking cured right by the farmer... at the right time and in the right way... no "splotching" or brittleness, but every leaf of good color and flavor.

FINALLY—bought in the open market... re-dried for storage... then packed in wooden hogsheads to age and mellow for two years or more until free from harshness and bitterness.

That's what we mean by mild, ripe tobacco. And that's the kind of tobacco we use to give Chesterfields their milder, better taste.

Picking leaf tobacco in the "Bright" tobacco fields of Virginia and the Carolinas.

Type of barn used for "flue-curing" leaf tobacco.
